

Banned Book Mad Libs

"Animal Farm"

By George Orwell and _____

No animal must ever live in a _____, or sleep in (noun)

a _____, or wear clothes, or drink _____, or (noun) (noun)

smoke tobacco, or touch money, or engage in trade. The habits of Man are _____. And, above all, no animal (adjective)

must ever _____ over his own kind. Weak or (verb)

_____, clever or _____, we are all brothers.
(adjective) (adjective)

No animal must ever _____ any other animal.
(verb)

All animals are equal.

See how much you miss when you censor?

Banned Book Mad Libs

“Harry Potter and the Sorcerer’s Stone”

By J.K. Rowling and _____

“You knew?” said _____. “You knew I’m a... a _____?”
(name) (profession)

“Knew!” shrieked Aunt Petunia suddenly. “Knew! Of course we knew! How could you not be, my _____ (adjective)

sister being what she was? Oh, she got a _____ just (noun)

like that and disappeared off to that – that _____ – and (noun)

came home every vacation with pockets full of _____ (plural noun)

turning _____ into _____. I was the only one who (noun) (noun)

saw her for what she was - a _____!
(insult)

See how much you miss when you censor?

Banned Book Mad Libs

"The Giver"

By Lois Lowry and _____

Then the _____ moved ahead in her speech.
(profession)

"This is the time," she began, looking directly at them,

"when we _____ differences. You Elevens have (verb)

spent all your years till now learning to _____, to (verb)

standardize your _____, to curb any impulse (noun)

that might set you apart from your _____.
(noun)

"But today we honor your _____. They have (plural noun)

determined your futures."

See how much you miss when you censor?

Banned Book Mad Libs

“Reading Lolita in Tehran”

By Azar Nafisi and _____

Nassrin, who was _____ around the room, inspecting (verb with -ing)
the _____ as if seeing them for the first time, paused to (plural noun)
say offhandedly, “I mentioned the idea very _____ to my (adverb)
father, just to test his reaction, and he _____ disapproved.
(adverb)
How did you convince him to let you _____? I asked. I (verb)
lied, she said. You lied? What else can one do with a person who’s so _____ he won’t let his daughter, at this age, (adjective)
go to an all-female class?

See how much you miss when you censor?

